

Have you had a suspected reaction to a medicine prescribed for you?

medway school of pharmacy

Would you be willing to tell us about your experience?

We are looking for people to take part in research to understand their experience of having a suspected medicine reaction.

There are 2 ways to help:

1. Take part in an interview.

We are looking for up to 15 people aged 18 and above to discuss with us their experience of having a suspected medicine reaction. This reaction may have happened either while taking the medicine or after stopping it and should have been within the last 2 years.

2. Take part in an email survey.

We are looking for 50 people aged 18 and above to tell us about their experience of having a suspected medicine reaction. This reaction may have happened either while taking the medicine or after stopping it and should have been within the last 2 years.

This research study is to be conducted by the Medway School of Pharmacy, University of Exeter Medical School and the Centre for Health and Social Studies at the University of Kent.

For more information please contact Anna Allford, Researcher, on Tel. no. 07743 770975 or by e-mail on mspresearch@kent.ac.uk

UNIVERSITY of
GREENWICH

UNIVERSITY OF
EXETER | MEDICAL SCHOOL

University of Kent

This project has been looked at and approved by the MSoP Research Ethics Committee